- Responds to information security incidents and provides assistance during the entire life cycle of the incidents. Analyses root causes of the security incidents and proposes preventive controls and mitigations.
- Coordinates escalation, response, and remediation efforts liaising with local IT focal points and operational teams to ensure timely resolution of security incidents and implementation of the required countermeasures.
- Contributes to and performs digital forensic analyses.
- Creates and improves incident response playbooks, processes, and procedures.
- Performs continuous monitoring and revision of security events.
- Analyses alerts and correlates events from multiple data sources and tools.
- Participates and contributes to threat hunting campaigns proactively searching for anomalies and evidence of compromise across the Secretariat.
- Assists in developing, tuning detection rules and aligning use cases with the business and organizational requirements.
- Contributes to the cyber threat intelligence program through the collection, correlation and analysis of events and threat information from various sources to identify artefacts and patterns of suspicious activities, and methods used by adversaries.
- Tracks and monitors threat actors relevant to the organization.
- Performs research of innovative and effective information security technology solutions, their configuration and integration into the organization's existing ICT landscape.
- Contributes to the maintenance of internal security tools and related infrastructure.
- Assists in the development and improvement of internal tools, integrations, and automation of processes.
- Contributes to the formulation of the policy and other supporting documents including procedures and guidelines.
- Provides expert advice on the security architecture and configuration of complex ICT solutions.
- Performs other duties as may be reasonably required and in line with the incumbent's scope of services above.
